Maine Painters are making exciting news at auction. Enter this story to experience the individual works, auction-house locations, and stunning prices realized this year.

Jamie Wyeth (1946-)

“Jamie Wyeth illustrates the historic moment of a weary Thomas Jefferson reading the work of his pen—the incendiary Declaration of Independence—its truths igniting all about him in a prophetic blaze of almighty glory. It’s a history painting depicting the inspired moment when a truly divine and greater power has been at work, using Jefferson as the vessel or agent. Jefferson is spent—as if having been violently possessed. I love the candlelight illuminating the paperwork in the lower part of the painting, as if it’s a roiling inferno. A terrific painting!”

“We’ve never been in a shop like this.

The shop is like a museum... the works of Maine’s artists have to be amongst the best in the world! The carvings look like they are breathing, the pictures draw you in, the skills displayed stagger the mind. A must-see shop on your tour of Camden’s downtown.”

“Maine’s best artists on display.”

“Ducktrap Bay Trading Co. is a gem.”

We can’t tell you how often we hear this from our visitors and customers. Ducktrap Bay Trading Company is the marine and wildlife art gallery on the center crosswalk in downtown Camden.

Representing over 200 artists—original paintings, carvings, etchings, sculpture, scrimshaw... and so much more!

Come to Camden and visit us. You won’t be disappointed.
